

BORON IN ADHESIVES

Boron compounds are used as a peptizing agent in the manufacture of casein-based and dextrin based adhesives. The role of boron compounds in the production of adhesives is to control the viscosity. The major use of starch based adhesives is in the manufacture of corrugated cardboard.